"When designing, it is crucial to search for the right balance of factors that most influence the quality of the experience: light, air and space. Our aim is ultimately to create a pleasant environment for every user."

As an architect and project manager, Jasper has been integral to the delivery of several complex public and commercial office buildings across the Mecanoo portfolio. Most notably the Delft Municipal Office and Train Station and the Zaans Medical Centre. Prior to joining Mecanoo Jasper graduated from the Delft University of Technology, after a year abroad at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) in the United States. In addition to past teaching positions at TU Delft as Chair Design Informatics he worked for Micha de Haas Architects in 2004, before joining Mecanoo in 2005. Jasper became an Associate Architect in 2013.
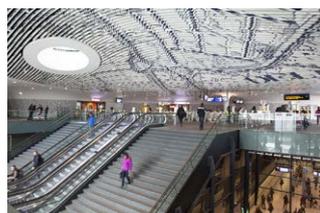

As an exceptional coordinator and experienced architect Jasper ensures that project processes run smoothly. Jasper monitors quality and design service integration whilst ensuring consistent consultation with clients and project stakeholders. Cross-checking consultant work, conducting quality meetings and ensuring that technical documents are produced, checked and authorised are further responsibilities he carries out and has done across the spheres of culture, commerce and transport.

Jasper leads Mecanoo's presence in New York and is responsible for promoting Mecanoo throughout the East Coast. He is currently working on the New York Public Library as a Design Manager serving as day-to-day client contact and link between Mecanoo and the local architect.
